DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 29-44 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-24 of copending Application No. 10/884,851, in view of Terry (GB 752,268) (previously cited by the applicant). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims are directed to an induction heating device and method using a power source providing current pulses with high frequency harmonics to a heater coil for adjusting the ratio between inductive and resistive heating of an article. In one aspect, the claims in this application is broader in scope as they do not require "at least 50% pulse energy in high frequency harmonics" as recited in the copending application. However, Terry clearly teaches the use of a power source generating a current with harmonics to an induction heating coil to increase efficiency and the efficiency depends on the percentage of the harmonics (see page 1, lines 63-68). It would have been obvious to an ordinary skill in the art to modify the present invention without the specific harmonics percentage, in view of the teaching of Terry.

This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Art Unit: 3742

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 29-44 would be allowable if the provisional the obviousness double patenting rejection is obviated, such as by filing a terminal disclaimer. The claims define over the art of record as the claimed heating apparatus with an inductive heater coil with a power source supplying non-sinusoidal pulses having steeply varying portions with high frequency harmonics in the inductive heater coil is not shown or suggested by the prior art. It is particularly noted that Terry (GB 752,268) only discloses low frequency harmonics in a sinusoidal power supply current for an induction heater coil.
